HONORS TO GENERAL GRENFELL-THE IM-PORTED ACTOR DEBATE-RETIREMENT OF BIR WILLIAM WHITE, AMBASSADOR AT CONSTANTINOPLE - THE QUEEN AD-VISED TO REDUCE EXPENSES-NEW

MUSIC FOR MACBETH - THE WURTEMBERG SCANDALS. [BY CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Copyright: 1888: By The New York Tribune. London, Dec. 24.-If English artists of the stage and studio should make a retaliative protest against their American cousins we can estimate approxfmately the resulting exodus. Fancy the banishment of Miss Anderson and all her photographs, and no returning of Miss Rehan. Mr. Sargent must shut up his studio and Mr. Abbey be seen no more at the Art Clubs, nor can he and Mr. Miller thenceforward write "R. A." after their names. It is rather too late in the day, however, to hear to the late in the day, however, to begin to play this came, with all the hardships it may inflict on individual artists of the sock and buskin or the brush and chisel. The custom of interchange must and will continue. Fortune is wholly on the side of the American painter and sculptor, as against the Eng-Hishman, but to his credit it must be said the latter smiles and bears it without a murmur.

HONORS FOR GENERAL GRENFELL

Se well satisfied are the Government with all that has been done by Sir Francis Grenfell at Suakim, and so fully do they appreciate the gallantry displayed by all ranks under his command, that already are heard reports of the distribution of honors. No doubt the Egyptian war medal will be issued to those who formed part of General Grenfell's forces. No decision has been arrived at, but opinions expressed at the War Office justify the assumption that the same measure of reward will be extended to those who took part in the action of Thursday last, as fell to the lot of Sir Frederick Stephenson's force at the battle of Giniss. The situation was a very ticklish one, and reverse would have been such a disastrous thing, both for the finances of Egypt and the reputation of the British Government, that the utmost will done by Her Majesty to mark her sense of the service rendered by General Grenfell and his staff, who managed matters so admirably.

PARLIAMENTARY PAIRING.

Surely more dismal performances have never been witnessed than those which attended the expiring days of the Autumn Session. The first idea of a member who went into the House was to pair and run off. But pairs were scarces than ever. The unwary member who waiked into the trap found hard to get out again. A few faithful spirits from their places. Sir Richard Temple uses the House as a sort of bed and never fails to drop off asleep a few minutes after he enters. General Goldsworthy prefers to take his slumbers in the Library, and both are continually within reach of the division bell. The Conservatives generally slipped away, but the rest kept fighting, and the whips were quite worn out. The brunt of work all through the session has fallen upon Colonel Waldron and the Hon. Sidney Herbert. They have done their duty with almost unexampled tact and a deal of good temper. No two men in their itions were ever more popular or more thoroughly | deserved to be.

A NEW AMBASSADOR TO THE PORTE. It is settled that Sir William White will retire

from the Embassy at Constantinople in the spring. He ought unquestionably to be succeeded by Sir Henry Wolff. A very gross job will be perpetrated if Lord sachville gets this coveted post. MR. BALFOUR TO STAY IN DUBLIN,

It has been stated that Mr. Balfour will spend the Christmas holidays with Lord Salisbury at Hatfield. That is not so. He will be in Dublin, and what is more, he intends to give a couple of grand balls there by way of reviving the hospitalities of the Secretary's Lodge, and no dinners So it seems Mr. Balfou thinks dances more acceptable to the Irish people than dinners. Everybody can go, as invitations are to be more numerous than select. Perhaps even the Lord Mayor of Dublin may be induced to lead the

THE QUEEN ADVISED TO REDUCE EXPENSES. I hear that Lord Sydney has advised the Queen ake extensive reductions in the department of The congregations at both St. the Chapels-Royal. James's and Whitehall are very small except on special occasions. Both chapels are closed at least two months in every year, so that the expenditure in connection with them of about £10,000 a year seems extravagant. There is certainly abundant scope for Lord Sydney's reforming zeal in the chapel stablishments, which consist of a dean (usually the Bishop of London, with a stipend of £200 a years, dean, a clerk of the closet, three deputy clerks of the closet to assist the clerk in doing nothing whatever, thirty-six chaplains in ordinary, thirteen honorable chaplains, two university preachers, nine priests, eight gentlemen, singing men of the chapels-royal, six retired gentlemen who receive pensions, twenty children choristers of the chapelsoyal, a master of the children, an organist and composer, a musical instructor, two sergeants of the vestry and a host of vergers and other at endants, all well paid and most of them with many desirable perquisites. There are also chapels royal at Buckingham Palace, where there has not been a service for more than twenty-seven years, at Windsor Castle, in which the Queen has just placed a new organ which has cost about £2,000, at Hampton Court, and at Kensington Palace, all with adequate establishments maintained by Her Majesty.

THE WURTEMBERG SCANDALS.

The King of Wurlemberg has insisted upon recalling | grown. his gang of American sorcerers, as it is the fashion to term them, to Nice. Queen Olga, who is a master-ful woman, having inherited the strong character of her father, Emperor Nicholas, has consulted Emperor William and Prince Bismarck, both of whom advised Her Majesty that considering the precarious state of King Charles's health it would be a grave matter to provoke a public scandal. So he will be allowed to please himself so long as he does not get reckless in expenditure. The King's extravagance during the last four years has seriously damaged had been unable to leave the house, owing to paraeven his immense fortune. I suspect His Majesty will hesitate long before he returns to Stuttgart, supposing he lives through the winter, as his American friends are not likely to be so insane as to trust themselves again in Germany.

LORD RANDOLPR'S DOINGS.

Although Lord Randolph Churchill has abandoned for the present his projected pilgrimage to South America, he evidently takes a kindly interest in the future of the nitrates.' He gave an almost unique dinner on Wednesday evening in Connaught Place to Prince of Wales. Mr. Balfour and the Russian Ambassador sat on either side of H. R. H., opposite their host. Lord Carzon, Lord Rothschild, who now sits at the financial feet of Colonel North.

MANY THINGS TO BE ENJOYED AND MANY PEOPLE TO ENJOY THEM.

There is every prospect of a gay Christmas edo. Rooms have been held for the last week. whether occupied or not, and dispatches are received hourly with requests for accommodation for people who are glad to leave the rush of town for a few days in order to enjoy the bracing air and quiet of this de lightful spot. A certain tone of sadness pervades the gathering at present, as several families who have always done so much to add to the pleasure of tho club people or their guests are in mourning.

For this afternoon an interesting programme has been laid out, intended to please all. There will be a Christmas service in the little chapel, the gift of Mrs. H. J. Barber, with a sermon by the rector, the Rev. A. V. Coltson. The skating is excellent and there will be an excellent opportunity for this bracing sport should the weather continue as fair as yesterday. The 8:55 train from New-York will bring out a large party of men for the pigeon-shoot, for of Sir offered. Among the arrivals yesterday were Commander Norris, of the Navy; Eugene Winthrop, of mander Noiris, of the Navy, Edward Hewitt, Mr. Paris; Oliver Harriman, Ir., J. B. The Honorable Artillery.

The disbandment, or more correctly speaking, of the Honorable Artillery Company has caused a profound sensation becond the confines of the city. The ancient corps has a history of three centuries and a half, and a deilling ground at Finebury worth something like a million sterling. Only last year it celebrated with much enthusiasm its 350th anniversary. Its great mistake, it seems, has 350th anniversary. Its great mistake, it seems, has 350th anniversary. An amusing story is going about in reference to the election at Maidstone. Mr. Cornwallis, it is said, the day after the poling was taken round to various places in town where the free and independent electors congregate to attend a jovial evening where they mustered in great force to meet and congratulate him, assuring him of the great satisfaction his return had given them, and adding: "We took one pound a head given them, and adding: "We took one pound a head given them, and adding: "We took one pound a head from the other side, but we voted for you, Mr. Cornwallis."

Bronson Howard signed contracts yesterday with Charles Frohman by which his latest comedy, "Shenandoah," will be given under the direction of Al Hayman and Charles Frohman. The play will first be presented in New-York City, beginning with next eason, under the personal direction of Bronson How States. The scenes take place between the years of 1861 and 1865, and it deals with events and incidents of the war. Mr. Howard has made comedy the leading feature of the work, although a sentimental story runs through it. There are twenty-two speaking parts and sixty extras required, together with elaborate scenery

THE CASINO'S NEW CHAIRS AND GLASSES

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST MR. ARONSON FOR INFRINGEMENT.

The new drop-a-quarter-in-the-slot opera glasses were introduced for the first time in this city by Rudolph Aronson at the Casino last night. They were accompanied by the new chairs which Mr. Aronson promised the public some time ago. The old folding chairs were good enough in their way, but their way was for about seventeen of them to break down every night. Then they were only nineteen inches two inches wide-not wide enough, it is true, for Commissioners from Maryland are ex-Governors of Mr. Costigan, who got stuck in the witness chair a few days ago-but big enough for an ordinarily important man. They are as comfortable as an Maryland Historical Society, and one of the best old arm chair. By their adoption the house loses fifty-three seats, but this loss may be compensated for by the revenue from the opera glasses, a pair of which is concealed in a little box attached to clear and strong that with their aid a blind man could almost see one of "Jack Point" Ryley's jokes. Nothing but conscience stands in the way of forgetting to return them to their boxes. They were freely used last night, and the returns will be heard

Each glass is stamped in gilt letters, "The Auto matic Opera-Glass Company." Possibly Mr. Aronson may have to remove them all before the patrons of the Casino get used to them. Here is a letter or the subject that was received by the managers of the Academy of Music last night: MANHATTAN OPERA GLASS SUPPLY CO.,

DEATH OF LITTLE DOT WINTERS.

Little Dot Winters, the eight-year-old prodigy who made so pleasant an impression on the theatre-goes of New-York at the Fourteenth Street Theatre in September, died last night at the home of her arents, No. 226 East Eleventh st. She had been ill for two weeks with congestion of the lungs and rheumatism of the heart. Dot was an exceptionally precocious child. In the pretty part of Pepe Latour, she came near sharing the honors with Miss May Wilkes, the young Californian, who made her debut as a "star" in Nelson Wheateroft's parlor inclodrama, "Gwynne's Oath." Unlike most profi-gies of the stage, she read her lines with a proper inflection and a natural intonation.

DOGS KILLED BY WAY OF EXPERIMENT,

Dr. Allen and Superintendent Hankinson, of the co-clety for the Prevention of Crucity to Animals.

Experiments in the line of this humane investigation have been in course of conduct for some time, with the result that chloroform and illuminating gas were the closen agents in yesterday's public and final experiments. These proved that gas is superior to chloreform in every respect. Taking a purely financial view of the question, chloroform costs three or four cents for every dog killed, while gas costs only a small fraction of a cent per dog. In the dog pound is a bex-like apparatus, constructed to hold about 150 dogs, which will supersede the old drown-The dogs yesterday were put into this, and in the several experiments it was filled with gas and chloroform in turn. ## THE WARDEN OF RACINE COLLEGE.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: In your issue of the 12th instant appeared a telegraphic communication from Racine, in which it is stated that Dr. Gray resigned his position as warden of the college at the request of Dr. Mc-Laren, Bishop of Chicago. It is but justice to Bishop McLaren, as well as to Dr. Gray, to correct this state ment, and to this end may I ask of you the favor to insert the following action of the Board of Trustees, of which Bishop McLaren is chairman? CLERICUS.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES ON THE RESIGNATION

At a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of Racine College, held in the college library on Tuesday, December 4, 1888, at which the resignation of the Rev. Albert Z. Gray, S. T. D., as Warden of Racine College was received and accepted, the board appointed the Right Reverends the Bishops of Chicago, Quincy, and of Indiana a committee to prepare a proper minute to be entered upon the records of the college expressing the sense of the board upon the acceptance of his resignation. OF DR. GRAY.

minute to be entered upon the acceptance of his resignation.

After due deliberation the committee presented their report as follows:

The committee appointed by vote following the acceptance of the resignation of the Warden, report the following to be entered upon the minutes:

The Board of Trustees desire to make permanent record of their appreciation of the Reverend Albert Z. Gray, S. T. D., late Warden of Racine College, as a Christian gentleman, an accomplished scholar and a self-denying laborer, and of their graftfule to him for his zeal and sacrifices in maintenance of the interests of the cellege during the period of his wardership;—that they accept his resignation only at his repeated request—and that their warm wishes for his happiness and success in such part of the Lord's work as may hereafter be assigned to him follow him as he leaves his seat at the board and the government of the college.

A WARNING TO THE GIVERS.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The various schemes for raising money with which the mails are just now loaded, asking for the forwarding of ten cents, and mailing a copy of the appeal to two of your friends, etc., etc., as a rule state an object as to the merit of which you know nothing, and so no doubt many are deluded into giving. The one now just before me asks for "money to build an inexpensive chapel at Shelter Island, where there is no place for religious service." and asks that the ten cents be mailed to an address in Philadelphia. As I own a cottage at Shelter Island, and have spent
